Leadership Development for Women

“The most common way people give up their power is by thinking they don't have any”

Alice Walker

Women continue to be under-represented at all grades within all organisations, particularly at senior levels and within key specialisms.

Although they don't realise it, many women already possess the skills to make them great leaders. However, they sometimes ignore these to follow what they perceive to be the main styles exhibited in their organisations. In doing so, they can sabotage their career potential.

This two-day programme will not only provide a supportive environment in which to learn, but will enhance leadership skills, and provide useful practical tools, that will assist the participants to be the leaders they truly can be, and want to be!

Date: 23-24 Mar 2010 • Cost: £1,295+VAT

Date: 9-10 Jun 2010 • Cost: £1,295+VAT

Date: 10-11 Nov 2010 • Cost: £1,295+VAT

Venue (All): Muika Associates: 54 Clarendon Road, Watford, Herts

The programme aims to:

- Create a secure and safe environment, that encourages open and honest discussion; where everyone can share strengths, with regard to their leadership skills.
- Develop personal and professional impact, through enhancing self-awareness, and identifying barriers to performance.
- Identify strategies for translating knowledge and ability into confident leadership performance.
- Enable participants to set clear goals, that lead to success, increased self-esteem and absolute confidence in anything they do.
